To the Commissioners:

The article in the Ravalli Republic on the "attacks" on the County Commission by non-profit groups is most interesting. Do you think residents should have been notified of this dire situation before the letter was sent? When will the surprises end?

Next time you write a letter based on fake news, especially when it's intended for the AG's office, it might be well to check original sources rather than depend on a single person complaining of a topic that, given appropriate notice of meeting time, is of interest to county residents.

Please focus on problems we live with every day right here in our own county - like weeds, roads, WUI's and flood plains, protecting the WSA's, growth policy, etc..

Respectfully,

Marilyn Saunders
