Subject: RE: Questions about the Dowling property

Ms. Shigley,

The County is interested in the property for possible future operations. There is no definite plan, but the courthouse and jail are reaching capacity and we are exploring options.

The property is zoned residential and would not be beneficial to the county unless the property was re-zoned.

Unfortunately, there are no more details and any decision to move forward on the property would require public participation.

Thank you,
Jeff

Subject: Questions about the Dowling property

Greetings,

I am sending a general email with hopes that someone who knows about this project will contact me. I would like to know what the County wants to do with the old Dowling Funeral Home property.

As you know, the property is zoned single family residential. Our home abuts this property (across the street). We specifically checked the zoning of the funeral home before we purchased our home. I, along with other neighbors, have been active in preserving the residential character of our neighborhood. I would like to make sure that any changes made to the Dowling property are thoroughly processed through the neighbors, and that the property is developed, or re-zoned in a way that is not detrimental to the people who live in the area.

Thank you,

Jane Shigley
